■ HERZL WAS also mentioned at the annual Jerusalem Day party hosted by Amnon and Lynn Gimpel in their delightful Jerusalem apartment.

The two have been brushing up on Herzl's vision, and said that the party was not only in honor of Jerusalem Day, but also to mark the 120th anniversary of Herzl's famous work Altneuland. For Jerusalem-born Amnon, there was also a personal reason to celebrate. It was the 120th year since the birth of his late father. In coming to the Holy Land, he said, his father had been inspired by Herzl.

Lynn was dismayed by the growing hostility between people of different political persuasions and levels of religious observance. The ultra-Orthodox should be hugging secular and non-Orthodox Jews, she said, because they were the ones who made it possible for the ultra-Orthodox to pray at the Western Wall. The Jews who are being ostracized by the ultra-Orthodox are the ones who fought in the Six Day War, and marched with Mordechai Gur when he made the historic statement: "The Temple Mount is in our hands."
